The forums are conducted twice annually and are closely coordinated with both the IATA Strategic Partners and the IATA Member airlines. The Fuel Forums, in addition to providing the opportunity for airline fuel purchasing decision-makers to discuss specific industry related matters, also allows for joint meetings to address matters of common interest to the aviation fuel community on safety, efficiency and sustainability. The Forum provides a unique platform for networking and bilateral meetings between suppliers and airlines. The Aviation Fuel Forum co-locates both the IATA Commercial Fuel Group and Technical Fuel Group meetings to ensure good collaboration and coordination across the airline industry.
