INTERLINE BILLING AND SETTLEMENT OPERATIONS MEETING

The annual IATA Interline Billing and Settlement Operations General Meetings are normally held in conjunction with the IATA SIS General Meeting and World Financial Symposium (WFS) to deal with the full spectrum of passenger, cargo and miscellaneous revenue accounting matters. They also consider IATA Clearing House procedures and settlement areas. The main areas of focus are interline billing and settlement procedures used between carriers. These rules are published annually in the Revenue Accounting Manual, which covers interline accounting practices used by airlines world-wide and dictates industry interline settlement procedures applied in day-to-day transactions.

The IATA Interline Billing and Settlement Operations General Meeting has a new IATA online platform where IATA SPs in the revenue accounting stream can join and monitor all the discussions going on about the interline billing and settlement rules.

Every three years, FinAC (INDUSTRY FINANCIAL ADVISORY COUNCIL) elect IATA member airline delegates to represent on the Interline Billing and Settlement Operations Working Group (IBS OPS WG). The IBS OPS WG co-ordinates with industry groups and monitors actions having revenue accounting implications. The IBS OPS WG works along-side the technical working groups as required to explore new technology and lend expertise to multidisciplinary groups.

IATA Member airline revenue accounting and IATA Clearing House personnel propose agenda items and attend the annual Interline Billing and Settlement Operations General Meeting. IATA Strategic Partners specific to the Revenue Accounting area may attend the Meeting as observers. Through participation, Partners become aware of new rules, procedures and system changes prior to their implementation industry-wide. This information is very valuable in maintaining systems and procedures up to date with industry requirements. Of course, Partners also gain benefit from directly working with the 80+ airlines present.
