What happens with your application?

IATA will review the documents you provided, ensuring all is compliant, and assessing your financial position.

Once your application is cleared, we will send you an invoice for the application fees and accreditation fees with payment instructions. Please provide proof of payment to IATA within three business days.

If required, we will request financial security from you, which you must provide within 30 days. Once this and all pending documents are received by IATA, including the signed IATA Agency Agreement, the review process will be complete.

We will then confirm that your request for IATA-accreditation has been approved, and send you a welcome package by email.

Our Customer Service is always available to help you throughout the process
